Cabins App

Industry stalwart, Jennifer Coutts Clay, has designed an app that tells you all you could ever want to know about the airline cabin past and present.

The colourful, intuitive and somewhat nostalgic Jetliner app gives readers an insight into aircraft passenger accommodation past and up to the latest generation with research keywords for quick and easy access into preferred topics.

Jennifer Coutts is a world expert on the topic of airline cabins across First, Business and Economy and her app features nearly 5000 images in 21 picture galleries showing cabin interiors ranging from vintage to state-of-the-art.

The full text comprises over 100,000 words and the menu card picture gallery is an archive trove for aviation specialists showing dining experiences in First and Business class that go back to the 'glory days' of air travel in the 1970s.

Other features of the app include examples of amenity bags, bag tags, cabin colours, cabin lighting and inflight dining.

A new chapter to Jennifer's latest addition is Chapter 15 covering Green advances; Superior Interiors.

A fully illustrated section on Buy on Board is an interesting addition written by guest writer, Maryann Simpson.

Jennifer Coutts Clay will be moderating one of the sessions at the Passenger Experience Conference in Hamburg on Monday April 13.
